

ActiveResponse

DO YOU KNOW IF ATTACKERS ARE ALREADY ON YOUR NETWORK?

An attacker can hide on your network for days, months, or years before being discovered – and it often takes a third party to make that discovery. The damage inflicted in that time can result in devastating operational costs and long-term harm to your reputation.

ActiveResponse is an incident handling solution designed for organizations that want to mitigate data loss, reduce the time attackers are on their network, and maintain compliance and regulatory standards.

ActiveResponse quickly detects attacker's activities, identifies root causes, and enables swift containment and eradication of threats.

ActiveResponse Components

ActiveResponse Hunt

- Find attackers much sooner
- Maintain network control
- Minimize network damage

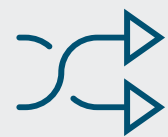

ActiveResponse Coach

- Consulting and advisory services
- Leverage Delta Risk's incident management experience
- Active incident management guidance

ActiveResponse Team

- Gain access to technical incident responders
- Assess, triage, and contain network threats
- Leverage mature tools and processes

Full-Service Integration

Not only does ActiveResponse work well with existing security teams and capabilities, it also integrates with Delta Risk's ActiveEye security monitoring service.

Decorated Team Of Consultants

All-US team of senior analysts with extensive experience in security operations with leading commercial providers, military, intelligence, and cybercrime investigators.

Advanced Cloud-Enabled Analysis

Ensure data is analyzed as quickly as possible.

Hunt

Are intruders already on your network? Have been there for weeks, or even months, but you don't have the full visibility and manpower to take them down?

Coach

Does your organization have the resources and the team to manage an incident, but need guidance to make sure it is handled as efficiently as possible?

Team

Is there no time for guesswork to determine the scope of the incident – you have to take care of the issue quickly, by any means necessary?

Cyber security incidents are increasingly common, and have real costs in time, dollars, and reputation. Unfortunately, many organizations don't have in-house resources to quickly detect and respond to these threats. Delta Risk offers the tools and expertise to cost-effectively deal with these challenges.

Is ActiveResponse For You?

- ▶ You want to minimize cost and reputational damage
- ▶ You need a dedicated consultant to help handle incident response
- ▶ You have a technical team, but need them to focus on day-to-day operations
- ▶ You want to know what attackers were doing on your network and how much damage they caused
- ▶ You want to push your security team to evolve and advance to the next level
